HEART SURVIVOR & AHA VOLUNTEER

After years of advocating for women’s heart health, Emmy Award-winning actress Susan Lucci wasn’t taking her own advice. Lucci had ignored mounting symptoms for weeks until crushing chest pain finally sent her to the hospital. In the latest PSA from the American Heart Association, hear Susan Lucci, best known for her role on the daytime drama All My Children, share her powerful story. Lucci uses her experience to talk about the importance of regular check-ups, heart health awareness, and “putting yourself on your to-do list”.

Join Susan Lucci and the American Heart Association in encouraging people to listen to their symptoms and help someone in your community get the care they need.
