

Stop the war

on children

Right now, in warzones across the world, children are living through unspeakable horrors with devastating and life-changing consequences. Children like those we know and love.

In the latest PSA from Save the Children called Their Eyes, your viewers will see and experience the disturbing images of war as seen by a child. Today, one in six children live in a conflict zone. As a result, children are more at risk of harm today than at any time in the last 20 years.

Every child deserves a future, and Save the Children is asking you to stand alongside them, especially in the chaos of war. Please Air Their Eyes today and support Save the Children's efforts to stop the war on children.
