Heart disease is America's #1 killer. Thanks to the American Heart Association's support for lifesaving research and medical breakthroughs, more Americans are getting a second chance at life.

In the latest PSA from The American Heart Association, you will feel the heartfelt gratitude of Kyra who nearly died due to non-compaction cardiomyopathy. She now has a pacemaker developed through research funded by the American Heart Association and has had no further incidents allowing her to spend valuable time with family and friends.

Please share Kyra's Story with your audience today to highlight the transformative power of medical research supported by the American Heart Association. Your support can help save lives in your local community. Learn more at HelpHeart.org.
