

For more than a century, the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) has worked to defend the constitutional rights and civil liberties guaranteed to everyone in the United States. Featuring comedian Lewis Black, television host and comedian W. Kamau Bell, and actress and comedian Sasheer Zamata, The Constitution Is No Joke is an awareness campaign reminding viewers that while humor can spark conversation, protecting our fundamental freedoms is a serious responsibility.

Through compelling, personal messages, The Constitution Is No Joke highlights the ACLU's enduring commitment to defending the rights guaranteed by the Constitution through the courts, legislatures, and communities nationwide. It reinforces the importance of civic engagement and demonstrates how public support helps advance efforts to protect constitutional freedoms for everyone.

Share The Constitution Is No Joke with your audiences to help raise awareness of the enduring importance of constitutional rights and the ongoing work to help preserve them for future generations.
