

Paralyzed Veterans of America

Dear PSA Director,

Help support Paralyzed Veterans of America during the COVID-19 pandemic by sharing their public service announcements, Stories from the Inside, with your audiences.

Featuring long-time supporter Ben Affleck, Stories from the Inside show paralyzed veterans in their homes with growing concerns about COVID-19 exposure, limited supplies, increased anxiety, and feelings of depression. With underlying health issues, paralyzed veterans and all people with serious disabilities, are at the greatest risk right now. Many are trapped at home and isolated because contracting the coronavirus could have deadly repercussions. These are terrifying times for this vulnerable group.

Paralyzed Veterans of America is literally the front-line warrior for our nation's most catastrophically injured veterans to ensure they have a hospital bed if they need it, protective gear for their caregivers, in-home care, and for many, food on the table.

You can make a difference during this difficult time by airing the :15, :30, and :60-second Stories from the Inside PSAs as soon, and as often, as possible.

Paralyzed Veterans of America is working to raise awareness and support to make sure these veterans in urgent crisis can get the food, supplies, and medicine they need for survival. For more information about how Paralyzed Veterans of America is helping through the COVID-19 pandemic, visit pva.org/covid-19.

Thank you in advance for your support of Paralyzed Veterans of America. If you have any questions, please contact Taylor McMahon at pva@psadirect.com or 703-675-0181.

Sincerely,

Liz Deakin
Director of Communications