

Military members and their families often sacrifice time away from loved ones, enduring months and sometimes years apart while serving our country. And, for children of military families, the impact of deployments can be significant.

You can help military members and their families stay connected by sharing the updated public service announcement from United Through Reading, No Matter the Distance, with your audiences. No Matter the Distance highlights the work that United Through Reading does to ensure the bond between parents and children remains consistent and meaningful, no matter how far apart they are. Military families share first-hand how this incredible program impacts their lives.
