

St. Joseph's Indian School
We serve and teach, we receive and learn.

For Native American children living in poverty, the holidays can look a lot different. While many gather around a table filled with a hot holiday meal and go to bed warm and full, there are many who face the holidays with little to celebrate or look forward to.

But for the students who spend much of their time at St. Joseph's Indian School, the holidays are a time to celebrate, see wishes come true, and continue growing towards a brighter future.

St. Joseph's Indian School educates and provides a loving home to support Lakota children as they learn, grow, and dream of future goals and achievements. And students enrolled at St. Joseph's Indian School graduate at a rate of 96%.

This holiday season, air St. Joseph's new PSA, "Holiday Wishes" to put their dreams and wishes within reach.
