

St. Joseph's Indian School
We serve and teach, we receive and learn.

Children follow many paths throughout their lives, but the most important one for Native American children is the Path Out of Poverty. For nearly 100 years, St. Joseph's Indian School has been a leader in the Lakota community, helping children who live in poverty overcome the struggles, obstacles, and hardships in their way.

In this new PSA, Path Out of Poverty, viewers learn how St. Joseph's Indian School provides a strong education, access to healthcare, and the love and support needed to help students down the path to a brighter future and their dreams. In fact, 96% of students enrolled in St. Joseph's graduate – that's 10% higher than the national average!

Please air St. Joseph's new PSA, Path Out of Poverty. Your support could be the light that helps a Native American child down the path to a brighter future!
