

For more than eight decades, Children International has been paving a path out of poverty for children worldwide.

Their latest public service announcement, You are My Sunshine, showcases children and their families at Children International community centers across the globe. Here, children have the opportunity to access vital resources like educational support, healthcare services, and essential social programs that empower them to thrive and create enduring transformation in their lives and in their communities.

Stand with Children International in their quest to end poverty once and for all by sharing You are My Sunshine with your audience today.
